

Ukraine Intellectual Property Deadlines and Russia Patent Protections

April 20, 2022

As noted in our client alert on March 17, 2022, Cooley continues to monitor the ever-changing situation in Russia and Ukraine following Russia's invasion of Ukraine in February 2022. Provided below is updated information regarding recent intellectual property (IP) developments in Russia and Ukraine. (You can find additional information about financial sanctions and export control restrictions imposed on Russia and Belarus by the United States, the United Kingdom and the European Union in our March 4 client alert.)

Recent developments

Martial law in Ukraine

Martial law in Ukraine has been extended until at least April 25, 2022. The Ukrainian Intellectual Property Office recently issued a notice confirming that any deadlines missed by applicants residing or domiciled in Ukraine during this period of martial law can be reinstated once martial law is lifted. However, because the Ukrainian Intellectual Property Office remains operational, all foreign IP owners should continue to timely satisfy all deadlines.

Accordingly, in the absence of your instructions to the contrary, your Cooley team will work to satisfy all Ukrainian IP deadlines as quickly as possible. Please let your Cooley team know if you decide that you are no longer interested in maintaining any existing IP filings in Ukraine.

Russian patents

While our previous client alert referred to a Russian decree that removed protections for patent holders registered in “unfriendly countries,” we have been informed by local counsel in Russia that this decree may be more limited in scope than has previously been reported.

Specifically, this decree related to the implementation of Article 1360 of the Russian Civil Code, which provides for compulsory licenses of IP rights when necessary to ensure the defense and security of the state, and to protect the life and health of citizens, and requires the payment of appropriate compensation to the owner of the IP. Thus far, only three compulsory licenses have been issued in Russia – all for inventions related to COVID-19 treatments – and, until recently, the compensation amount for such compulsory licenses was set at 0.5% of the sales. On March 6, 2022, however, the Russian government issued its decree setting this compensation rate at 0% for IP owners from “unfriendly countries.”

Therefore, according to our Russian contacts, rather than establishing a 0% compensation scheme for all patents registered to holders in “unfriendly countries,” this decree relates to compensation for compulsory licenses issued in accordance with Article 1360 and was issued in response to the sanctions imposed on Russia. If you are concerned regarding the impacts of these developments on your business, we recommend seeking the advice of local counsel.

Your Cooley team will continue to monitor developments regarding IP protections in Russia.

This content is provided for general informational purposes only, and your access or use of the content does not create an attorney-client relationship between you or your organization and Cooley LLP, Cooley (UK) LLP, or any other affiliated practice or entity (collectively referred to as "Cooley"). By accessing this content, you agree that the information provided does not constitute legal or other professional advice. This content is not a substitute for obtaining legal advice from a qualified attorney licensed in your jurisdiction, and you should not act or refrain from acting based on this content. This content may be changed without notice. It is not guaranteed to be complete, correct or up to date, and it may not reflect the most current legal developments. Prior results do not guarantee a similar outcome. Do not send any confidential information to Cooley, as we do not have any duty to keep any information you provide to us confidential. When advising companies, our attorney-client relationship is with the company, not with any individual. This content may have been generated with the assistance of artificial intelligence (AI) in accordance with our AI Principles, may be considered Attorney Advertising and is subject to our legal notices.

---

Key Contacts

Dr. Carol Laherty Seattle	claherty@cooley.com +1 206 452 8777
Susan Piascik Christoff Washington, DC	schristoff@cooley.com +1 202 842 7854
Christina Stock Boston	cstock@cooley.com +1 617 937 2383

---

This information is a general description of the law; it is not intended to provide specific legal advice nor is it intended to create an attorney-client relationship with Cooley LLP. Before taking any action on this information you should seek professional counsel.

Copyright © 2023 Cooley LLP, 3175 Hanover Street, Palo Alto, CA 94304; Cooley (UK) LLP, 22 Bishopsgate, London, UK EC2N 4BQ. Permission is granted to make and redistribute, without charge, copies of this entire document provided that such copies are complete and unaltered and identify Cooley LLP as the author. All other rights reserved.