Helen Clark leads Cooley's office administration teams in London and Brussels. Central to her varied role is ensuring that from an operational and strategic perspective, the needs of Cooley's flourishing and rapidly growing European offices are supported by enthusiastic teams delivering consistently high quality internal client service.

Helen's background as a litigator and partner means she is well-placed to understand where administration teams can add real value and have a truly positive impact on the working lives of our lawyers and professional staff and in turn the service they provide to Cooley's clients.
