Victoria assists public companies on a range of matters, including Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) reporting and disclosure, corporate governance, and the listing requirements of the major US exchanges. She also advises companies preparing for an initial public offering as well as newly public companies navigating their ongoing public company obligations. In addition, Victoria represents issuers in public offerings and private placements and counsels companies on corporate governance and SEC disclosure issues arising in the context of other transactions, including reverse mergers and de-SPAC business combinations.

Victoria provides her clients with the benefits of her extensive experience and knowledge, helping them anticipate issues and offering practical solutions.
