

Ethan Mandelbaum

Associate

---

emandelbaum@cooley.com

+1 917 841 4397

New York

---

Ethan is a creative litigator who represents companies, nonprofit organizations and individuals in complex civil and commercial disputes, arbitrations, and government investigations. He also maintains an active pro bono practice focused on criminal defense.

Before joining Cooley, Ethan completed a four-month fellowship serving as a law clerk to Judge Lorna Schofield of the US District Court for the Southern District of New York. He received his JD from Columbia Law School, where he was a research assistant to professor Jamal Greene, an editor on the Columbia Journal of Law and Social Problems, and worked on post-conviction proceedings and appeals on behalf of death-sentenced clients.

Education

Columbia Law School

JD James Kent Scholar, Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar, 2023

Tufts University

BA magna cum laude, 2020

Admissions & Credentials

New York

California

Memberships & Affiliations

New York State Bar Association