Josh helps companies navigate the full M&A life cycle, guiding them through complex transactions with clarity, efficiency and a focus on business priorities. He works closely with high-growth companies and established market leaders, supporting their strategic initiatives across domestic and cross-border deals.

Josh's practice centres on M&A, including carve outs, strategic acquisitions, corporate reorganisations and liquidity events. He works with deal teams across the firm and has a proven track record of keeping deals on track under demanding timelines.

Josh's experience includes supporting acquirers and target companies in technology-driven and life sciences sectors, where the pace of change requires practical judgment and an ability to translate commercial objectives into actionable legal solutions. He is particularly effective in high-pressure deal environments, where he focuses on anticipating challenges before they arise and maintaining momentum when it matters most.

Josh is driven by the collaborative nature of transactional work and the opportunity to act as a trusted advisor to teams pursuing ambitious goals, helping them move from strategy to execution. He values delivering work that is clear, reliable and genuinely useful to clients navigating significant milestones in their journeys.
