Cooley

Ryan Ylitalo

Associate

rylitalo@cooley.com

+1 415 693 2564

Washington, DC

Commercial Litigation

Ryan joins Cooley after earning his JD from the University of San Diego School of Law, where he graduated as valedictorian and achieved Order of the Coif honors.

During law school, Ryan externed for both Judge Kenneth K. Lee in the US Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit and US Magistrate Judge Andrew G. Schopler in the Southern District of California (now a district court judge). He also externed at the USD Law Federal Tax Clinic, providing free services to low-income individuals regarding their matters with the IRS. Additionally, Ryan served as a comment editor on the San Diego Law Review's executive team, guiding second-year students in writing their comments.

Education

University of San Diego School of Law JD, valedictorian, Order of the Coif, 2024

University of Minnesota Twin Cities BS, 2019

Admissions & Credentials

Admitted to practice in California only

Not admitted to practice in Washington, DC

Supervised by active members of the Washington, DC, Bar