

Amy Kucensky

Director of Data

---

akucensky@cooley.com

+1 650 843 5310

Palo Alto

---

Amy brings 20+ years of experience driving data transformation and innovation in highly regulated industries. She leads the firm's data strategy, championing the deployment of lakehouse solutions that underpin Cooley's vision for the future of legal services.

Before joining Cooley, Amy held senior leadership roles in , where she spearheaded large-scale digital transformation initiatives. Amy is passionate about building high-performing teams, mentoring future data leaders and shaping data-driven cultures that empower organizations to innovate responsibly. Her background spans enterprise data architecture, artificial intelligence-driven technology innovation, and modernizing operational workflows to enhance efficiency, scalability and automation. Amy is recognized for unlocking new opportunities for growth, harnessing emerging technologies to solve complex business challenges, aligning data initiatives with business priorities, regulatory frameworks and the evolving needs of global organizations.

At Cooley, Amy chairs the Data Council, a strategic advisory body responsible for advancing the firm's data governance, quality and life cycle management.

Summary of key experience:

- 20+ years in IT, data and financial operations leadership
- Deep experience in digital transformation, lakehouse implementations and enterprise data strategy
- Panel speaker engagements on data transformations using Snowflake
- Proven success in regulated industries, including insurance and legal services
- Leadership of cross-functional teams and strategic advisory councils

Education