John drives transformative deals at the intersection of real estate, energy and infrastructure. His experience reaches across sectors and asset classes, including data centers, retail, shipping terminals and logistics, gaming and hospitality, media and broadcasting, entertainment and recreation, and renewable and traditional energy. He regularly advises on distressed companies and assets, liability management, monetization and deleveraging of companies and assets, along with restructurings both in and out of court.

John works closely with sponsors, investors, government agencies, public companies, private equity and debt funds, portfolio companies, sovereigns, and pension funds on complex asset strategies, including commercial investment, disposition, development, operation and financing. He has played key roles in significant public company real estate investment trust (REIT) spinoff transactions and marine terminal concessions, transfers, privatizations and redevelopments.
