Emerging Companies
Mergers and Acquisitions

Rooted in the fast-paced world of mergers and acquisitions, Jeff built a foundation in corporate transactional work before channeling his knowledge into supporting emerging companies as they navigate the complexities of growth, financing and formation.

Jeff focuses on the general corporate, technology and life sciences sectors, working with companies at the forefront of innovation as they scale, partner and evolve. As a corporate paralegal, Jeff brings a practical, solutions-focused approach to every engagement, while managing multifaceted projects from inception to close while serving as a dependable anchor for attorneys and clients alike.

Known for clear, direct communication and a knack for anticipating issues before they arise, Jeff takes pride in being the kind of team member colleagues can count on when the stakes are high and the timelines are tight.
