Product Compliance and Product Litigation
ESG and Sustainability Advisory
CooleyREG

Jack covers the nexus of UK and European Union sustainability and product law matters, and he is deeply integrated into Cooley's US practice, giving him a unique insight into the interactions of international regimes and related sensitivities. He has extensive experience advising global companies spanning a broad range of sectors, with a specific focus on life sciences and technology companies.

Jack regularly works with UK and US public and private companies, helping them navigate their UK and international sustainability reporting obligations, climate-related targets and disclosures, due diligence, and supply chain transparency requirements. Jack also advises when things do not go to plan – including on product compliance, litigation, recalls and regulatory issues.
