

Casey Schulte

Special Counsel

cschulte@cooley.com

Emerging Companies

+1 650 843 5162

Venture Capital

Fund Formation

Palo Alto

Casey Schulte is a special counsel in the fund formation group and joined Cooley in 2001. His practice focuses on the formation and representation of private equity and venture capital funds, including representation of issuers and venture capital funds in private financing transactions. Casey also represents emerging growth companies in financing transactions and matters of general business and corporate law.

Prior to attending law school, Casey worked at the Exxon Chemical Company as a process engineer in aromatics manufacturing.

Education

Stanford Law School

JD, With distinction, 2001

Texas A&M University

MS, Chemical Engineering, 1998

Texas A&M University

BS, Chemical Engineering, Summa cum laude, Gathright Scholar, 1995

Admissions & Credentials

California

Texas

Memberships & Affiliations

American Bar Association (ABA)