Akanksha represents and advises clients at all stages of litigation.

Before joining Cooley, Akanksha clerked for Judge Lee H. Rosenthal of the US District Court for the Southern District of Texas and Judge Stephen A. Higginson of the US Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit. She then served as an Appellate and Supreme Court Litigation Fellow in the Illinois Solicitor General's Office, where she represented the state and its agencies in various appellate matters, including the federalization of the National Guard, gun regulations and consumer protections.

During law school, Akanksha was a winner of the Morris Tyler Moot Court of Appeals, executive editor for the Global Constitutionalism Seminar, and a board member for the Asian Pacific American Law Students Association. She also interned with the ACLU's Reproductive Freedom Project and Voting Rights Project and worked in the International Refugee Assistance Project clinic.
